Economic Review

The country's GDP has gradually started to reel from the downturn and economic crisis with stability returning in currency, although the Consumer Price Index still delivered a y/y inflation figure of ~29.2% with a severe impact of gas prices being passed on to end consumers. The industry still rolls from visible effects i.e., higher input costs as well as some restrictions on imports which may continue to keep the economic boats afloat. Pakistan Bureau of Statistics (PBS) also released quarterly GDP growth figures which indicated a y/y growth of 2.13% for 1QFY24 compared to 0.96% in SPLFY. This indicates a transition from stagnated growth to a positive rate which bodes well for the overall economy. Rice, which has increased significantly by 21%, is the main contributor to the remarkable 11.16% growth in essential crops. This favorable development in the agricultural sector facilitates the overall improvement of the economy. The yield curve shows a decreasing tendency of 47 basis points on average. Consequently, the prevailing three-month Treasury bill is presently trading below the established policy rate at 21.3%. This noteworthy development has had a pronounced impact on short-term interest rates, which persist in exhibiting fluctuations below the stipulated policy rate. Reduced interest rates have the potential to stimulate the economy by promoting borrowing and expenditure. Favorable lending conditions may be utilized by consumers and businesses, potentially boosting economic activity.

Stock Market Review

During the month, KSE100 advanced by 16.6% while KMI 30 also generated return of 15.27%. As central bank endorsed stable policy rate, market participants entered stable mode with expectation of peaked interest rate cycle and stability in PKR:USD parity further aided by passing on of gas tariff which bodes well as IMF talks for release of ~USD700mn. During the month Commerical Banks, Oil & Gas Markeing Companies, Fertilizers and Phamaceutical grew owing to positive sentiments regarding expected decline in inflation and peaked interest rate cycle. We recommend investors to calibrate their exposure with respect to their risk appetite.
